

Sinclair Broadcasting's coercing if its affiliates to air "Stolen Honor," an anti-Kerry film, is an abuse of its authority in order to push Sinclair's own political agenda.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves for free, and by law must serve the public interest, not its narrow corporate interest.

I believe that the FCC licensing process needs to be changed so that citizens effectively disenfranchised of their own airwaves by a large company like Sinclair have a real chance to contest the relicensure of its broadcast outlets.

Thank you.
